Before you apply

The number of vacancies in Years 8 to 12 will vary from school to school. Generally, the number of vacancies is limited. Places in Years 11 and 12 may not be available in all schools.

Before submitting your application to each chosen selective high school, you should go to each school's website to find out:

- whether to send the application form by email or by mail or online
- the distance your child will need to travel to attend the school
- the school assessment procedures such as testing and school reports
- courses and programs offered
- selection criteria for placement
- boarding fees and possible financial assistance if applying for boarder placement.

Contact the school if any of these questions are not covered by their web page.

What are selective high schools?

Selective high schools and opportunity classes are part of the department's commitment to supporting high potential and gifted students, providing:

- specialist school settings that cater to their level of intellectual ability
- classes with peers who have similar intellectual ability
- an environment that supports their emotional wellbeing and social development.

Selective high schools include:

- Seventeen fully selective high schools where all classes are academically selective.
- 26 partially selective high schools in NSW that accept students in Year 8 and above.
 - These schools have a mix of local area high school students who attend non-selective classes, and students placed through the selective high school placement processes who attend selective classes together.

- The students in the selective classes participate in separate English, mathematics and science classes. They generally join the non-selective students for classes in other subjects.
- Two of these schools, Sydney Secondary College Leichhardt and Sydney Secondary College Balmain offer places in Years 7-10 and students generally proceed to Sydney Secondary College Blackwattle Bay campus for Years 11 and 12.
- Four agricultural high schools, 3 of which offer boarding places. Agricultural high schools are selective high schools that emphasise the study of agriculture. Boarder schools give some priority to isolated students and may give special consideration to brothers and sisters of students currently enrolled at the school.
- Aurora College, where students enrolling in a government high school in a rural or remote location attend selective classes online. A list of eligible participating schools is available at Rural and remote high schools.

The complete list of selective high schools is shown at the end of this document. Not all schools fill vacancies in Years 11 and 12. Please visit the schools' websites to find out whether they are taking applications for vacancies in Years 11 and 12 before applying for those school years.

Fees

As with all government schools, tuition at selective high schools is free, but schools may ask for a contribution to cover services such as library, textbooks and curriculum-related resources. Schools may also ask for contributions to cover the purchase of materials in certain key learning areas and to cover costs associated with sports or excursions. Boarder agricultural high schools charge boarding fees.

How to apply

Look up the school websites listed at the end of this document to find out about the courses offered by the school and the assessment requirements for entry to Years 8 to 12.

- Decide which selective high school/s you would like to apply for. You may apply for up to 3 selective high schools.
- Complete a separate application form for each selective high school you wish to apply for. The form is available at Selective high schools – Years 8 to 12 applications while applications are open. You must list the schools you choose in the same order of priority on each application form.

- Attach a copy of the birth certificate or other document that verifies the student's name shown on each application.
- Send each form to reach the relevant selective high school by 26 July 2024.
- Complete any extra forms the school asks for.
- If a test is required by the school and if your child has a disability that usually requires adjustments at school, discuss these with the school to ensure equitable access to the test.

Providing information about disability

Information that parents/carers and schools provide about disability is used for approving and arranging reasonable adjustments for entry tests, if applicable. Reasonable adjustments are practical arrangements designed to support students to make a fair attempt to show their ability under test conditions, in accordance with the National Disability Standards for Education 2005.

Information about disability may also be considered for equity placement. Learn more about the Equity Placement Model in 'Selection procedures' below.

Information about disability cannot be used to restrict access to selective high school placement in any way.

Australian citizenship and residency status

If a student seeking placement is not a citizen of Australia or New Zealand or is not a permanent resident of Australia, conditions apply for enrolment in selective high schools. Find a list of visas and their eligibility for placement in selective high schools in the Visa sub-class and enrolment conditions. Revisit this link to see any updates to eligible visas.

Information on Australian citizenship is available on the Department of Home Affairs website. You can get a Certificate of Evidence of Australian Citizenship or a Visa grant notice to prove your child's visa status to the school.

If your child does not meet these residency requirements at the time of applying but is expected to meet them by the time offers are made, you can apply provided you are already living in Australia.

If your child qualifies for entry on academic grounds but does not yet meet the residency requirements, including those who hold diplomatic visas, you may ask for special consideration through the review process.

If your application is successful, you must show original documentation, such as a Certificate of Evidence of Australian Citizenship, birth certificate or visa, before the school can enrol your child. Your child's offer may be cancelled before enrolment is finalised if it is based on false or misleading information.

Residential address

Your family must be living in NSW by the beginning of the 2025 school year. If your family normally lives in NSW but you are temporarily out of the state, you should expect to return before the student is enrolled in a selective high school. If you continue to live outside NSW after the 2025 school year begins your application will be considered only if there are vacancies remaining after all suitable applicants from NSW have been placed.

Application and selection procedures

View application information and the application form on the Years 8 to 12 site. The application form is available only while applications are open.

Selective high schools also provide the link to the application form on their websites. Some selective high schools may link to a version of the application form that you can complete and submit online. The school may be able to print a copy of the application form for you if you are unable to use a computer.

Acknowledgement of receipt of application

Your application will be acknowledged by the school/s in writing.

Change of application details

If your child's name, address or school changes after you have sent your application form, please write to the selective high school(s) you have applied for. Write to those schools directly if you want to withdraw your application.

Testing

If required by the selection committee, students may be asked to take a test of academic merit. In this case, the school will provide you with reasonable notice of the time, date and place of the test. Schools may request a test administration fee.

Some groups of schools share the results of tests between them. If you have chosen more than one of these schools, your child will have to sit that test only once. However, if the schools you have chosen require different forms of testing, your child may have to sit more than one test.

Students found to be cheating or engaging in other malpractice risk disqualification from the test.

Not all selective high schools use a test to determine their offers of placement.

Selection procedure

The number of vacancies at selective high schools in Years 8 to 12 will generally depend on the number of students who leave in the previous year. However, some schools may create an additional class in a specific school year. Some schools may not have any vacancies in some school years. Schools may create reserve lists to fill any future vacancies during the same year.

For each selective high school, a selection committee will decide on the students to be offered places and will establish a reserve list in priority order based on academic merit.

The selection committee comprises the selective high school principal and an additional member nominated by the principal.

The selection committee may ask for further information, access information from departmental sources or arrange for additional assessment procedures if required.

The Equity Placement Model provides selection committees with the framework to ensure under-represented groups have equitable access to placement. Where appropriate, this allows for extra consideration to be given where a student's performance is similar to those students at the school. There is no separate application process for parents/carers wishing to have their child given this consideration.

The Equity Placement Model helps to make access fairer for the following under-represented groups:

- students attending school in areas of low-socio-educational advantage

- Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander students
- students living in rural and remote locations
- students with disability.

Notice of outcome

You will be notified in writing about the outcome of your application. Some later offers may be made by telephone. Students may be:

- offered a place
- put on the reserve list
- advised that they did not qualify for placement.

If your child is placed on a reserve list, it applies only to starting in the school year you applied for. If unsuccessful you can apply in future to start in subsequent school years.

The outcome information will be provided by each school you applied for.

Response to offers

If you receive an offer, please respond to the school as soon as possible. If you do not respond within 7 days or within the time specified on your offer letter, the school will assume that you do not want to accept the offer. Where your offer is made by telephone you must respond within 24 hours.

If you will be away on holidays when offers are being made, you should leave contact details with the selective school(s) or delegate someone to respond on your behalf.

If you accept the offer, you will be sent an 'Authority to attend' letter by the school. For government high school students, the selective high school principal will then arrange for the student's records to be transferred.

The offer will be withdrawn if the student fails to enrol at the school at the beginning of the school year without providing a satisfactory explanation.

You must negotiate any deferment with the principal. You cannot defer enrolment beyond the first day of Term 2, 2025.

If you accept the offer and later change your mind, please tell the school immediately so that the next eligible student can be offered the place. If you decline the offer, you will be sent a letter to confirm this.

Review of the outcome

If you wish to appeal the selection committee's decision, you should contact the school within 7 days of the date on the outcome letter with detailed reasons why you believe the selection committee's decision should be reviewed.

You can request a review if you have evidence that the stated criteria for selection were not considered or the stated process was not followed. You can also request a review on the grounds that your lack of permanent residency should be waived if you have strong grounds to show that you have a reasonable expectation of staying in Australia for the student's high school education.

You should include:

- details of the published criteria or processes you believe were not followed by any of your chosen selective high schools
- how failure to follow those criteria or processes may have prevented the student from gaining a place
- any supporting material, where applicable. Reviews based on residency grounds must show evidence such as work contracts or business ownership or a letter from the Department of Home Affairs: Immigration and Citizenship indicating that a permanent resident visa will be granted very soon.

Decisions cannot be reviewed if they are based on:

- other assessments such as NAPLAN or competitions
- in-class rankings of one candidate over another
- not being given additional consideration if the student is from one of the 4 under-represented groups (students with disability, students from rural or remote locations, students attending school in areas of low socio-educational advantage, Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander students)
- disruption to learning while the student is on holiday or overseas

- illness or medical conditions
- moving house
- insufficient documentation supplied to the school with the application.

For performance-based reviews, only evidence relating to performance in 2023 and 2024 may be considered.

The selective high school will review the decision and will notify parents/carers about the outcome.

Following the outcome of the review, if you believe you have grounds to contest the decision, you can write to the Director, Educational Leadership responsible for the chosen selective high school. Find the relevant Director by calling the department on 1300 679 332.

Transfers and repeating

Students cannot automatically transfer between selective high schools. If your child is already enrolled at one selective high school and wants to go to another, you must fill out an application form for entry to Years 8 to 12 and send it directly to the selective high school you want your child to attend. The application must be submitted before the closing date each year, for placement in the following year.

If the student is currently enrolled in a selective high school and you wish your child to repeat the same Year in 2025, you should discuss the matter with the current principal..

Enrolment policy

The NSW Department of Education has a responsibility to assess and manage any risk of harm to its staff or students. This includes assessing and managing risks posed to students or staff at a school by any student. Where relevant, such situations will be dealt with in accordance with the NSW Department of Education enrolment policies and procedures.

Entry to boarder agricultural high schools

Farrer Memorial Agricultural High School has boarder and day places for boys only. Agriculture is a compulsory subject for Years 7 to 10.

Hurlstone Agricultural High School has co-educational boarder and day places. Agriculture is a compulsory subject for Years 7 to 10.

Yanco Agricultural High School has co-educational boarder students only. Agriculture is a compulsory subject for Years 7 to 10 and is optional in senior years.

For Farrer Memorial Agricultural High School and Hurlstone Agricultural High School, a student successful in gaining a boarder placement cannot later be automatically transferred to a day place as the placement process is different for boarder and day places.

Priority for placement in boarder agricultural high schools will be given to geographically isolated students and then to other students in rural areas. Some priority may also be given to students who would have to travel extensively to study agriculture. The academic merit of boarders admitted to boarder agricultural high schools based on isolation must be comparable to that of other boarders and day students at the school. For boarder placement, extra consideration may be given to students who have brothers or sisters already attending the school.

If applying for a boarder place, you should complete all of the boarder agricultural school section on the application form including:

- isolation factors
- interest in agriculture
- ability to cope in a boarding situation.

In addition to satisfying residency requirements and other conditions for entry, enrolment as a boarder student is subject to the provision of a medical report for the student and the submission of a 'residential student agreement' provided by the school.

Boarder fees

Boarder agricultural high schools can charge an application fee, with payment required when you accept a boarder place. The school deducts that amount from the fees you pay when you enrol your child. If you withdraw your child after accepting the offer of a place, the application fee is not refundable.

In addition to satisfying boarder requirements and other conditions for entry, you must provide a medical report and pay the boarder fee. You must confirm the 2025 boarding fees and the timing of payments with the school. You must sign a 'residential student agreement' to pay the boarder fees when they are due.

Financial assistance for boarder students

Find information about the following types of financial assistance at Rural and remote education.

- If a child in your care must board away from home to access secondary education (Years 7 to 12), you may be eligible for the Living Away from Home Allowance. Application forms are available online from Services NSW. Completed forms need to be forwarded to the details provided in the form. Please note that deadlines apply for submitting the form. For assistance contact Rural and Distance Education (02) 6334 8070 or (02) 6334 8072. or email rde@det.nsw.edu.au
- Boarding Scholarships for Isolated Students are available to students in Years 7-12, to provide assistance to eligible students who are disadvantaged by a low family income and geographic isolation. More information and the application form can be accessed online at Services NSW.
- If your child is unable to attend a local government school because of geographical isolation, disability or special needs, you may be eligible for help through the Assistance for Isolated Children Scheme. For information about eligibility and to apply, please visit the Services Australia website. In addition, students may be able to obtain assistance from Youth Allowance or ABSTUDY. More information and how to apply is available from Services Australia.
- Contact the specific boarder agricultural high school for more details about schemes that provide financial assistance to boarder students.
